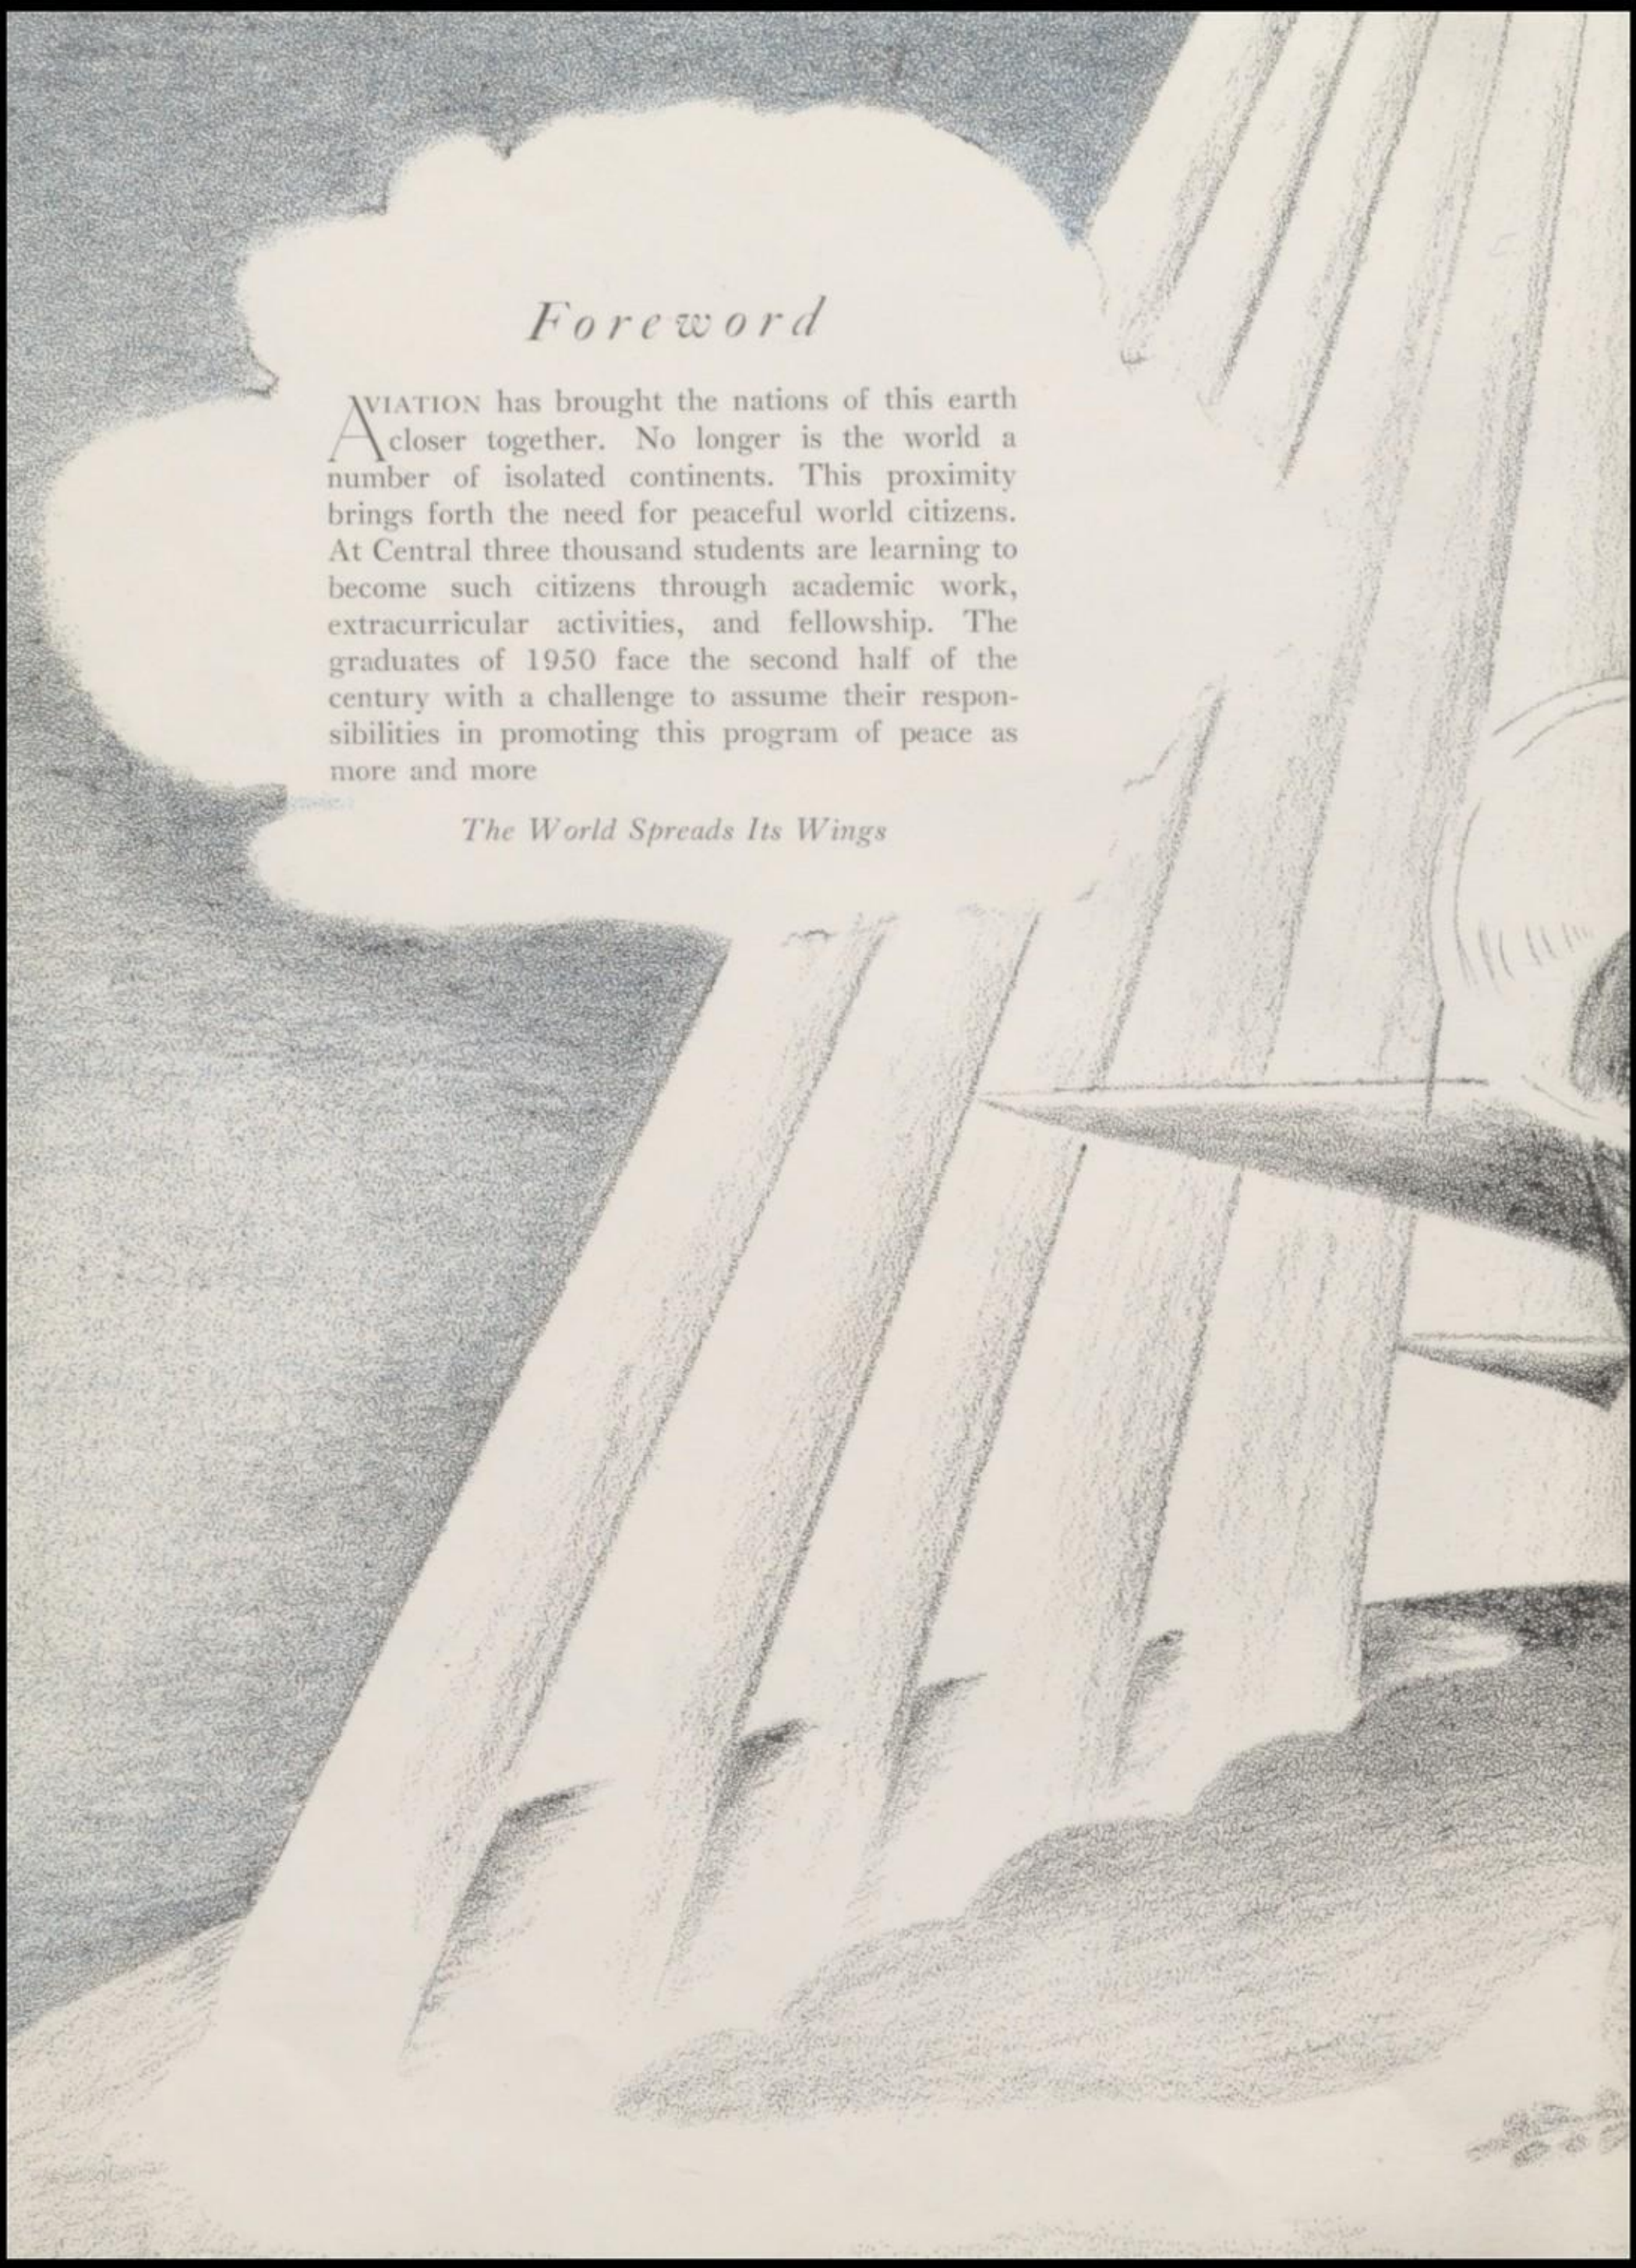
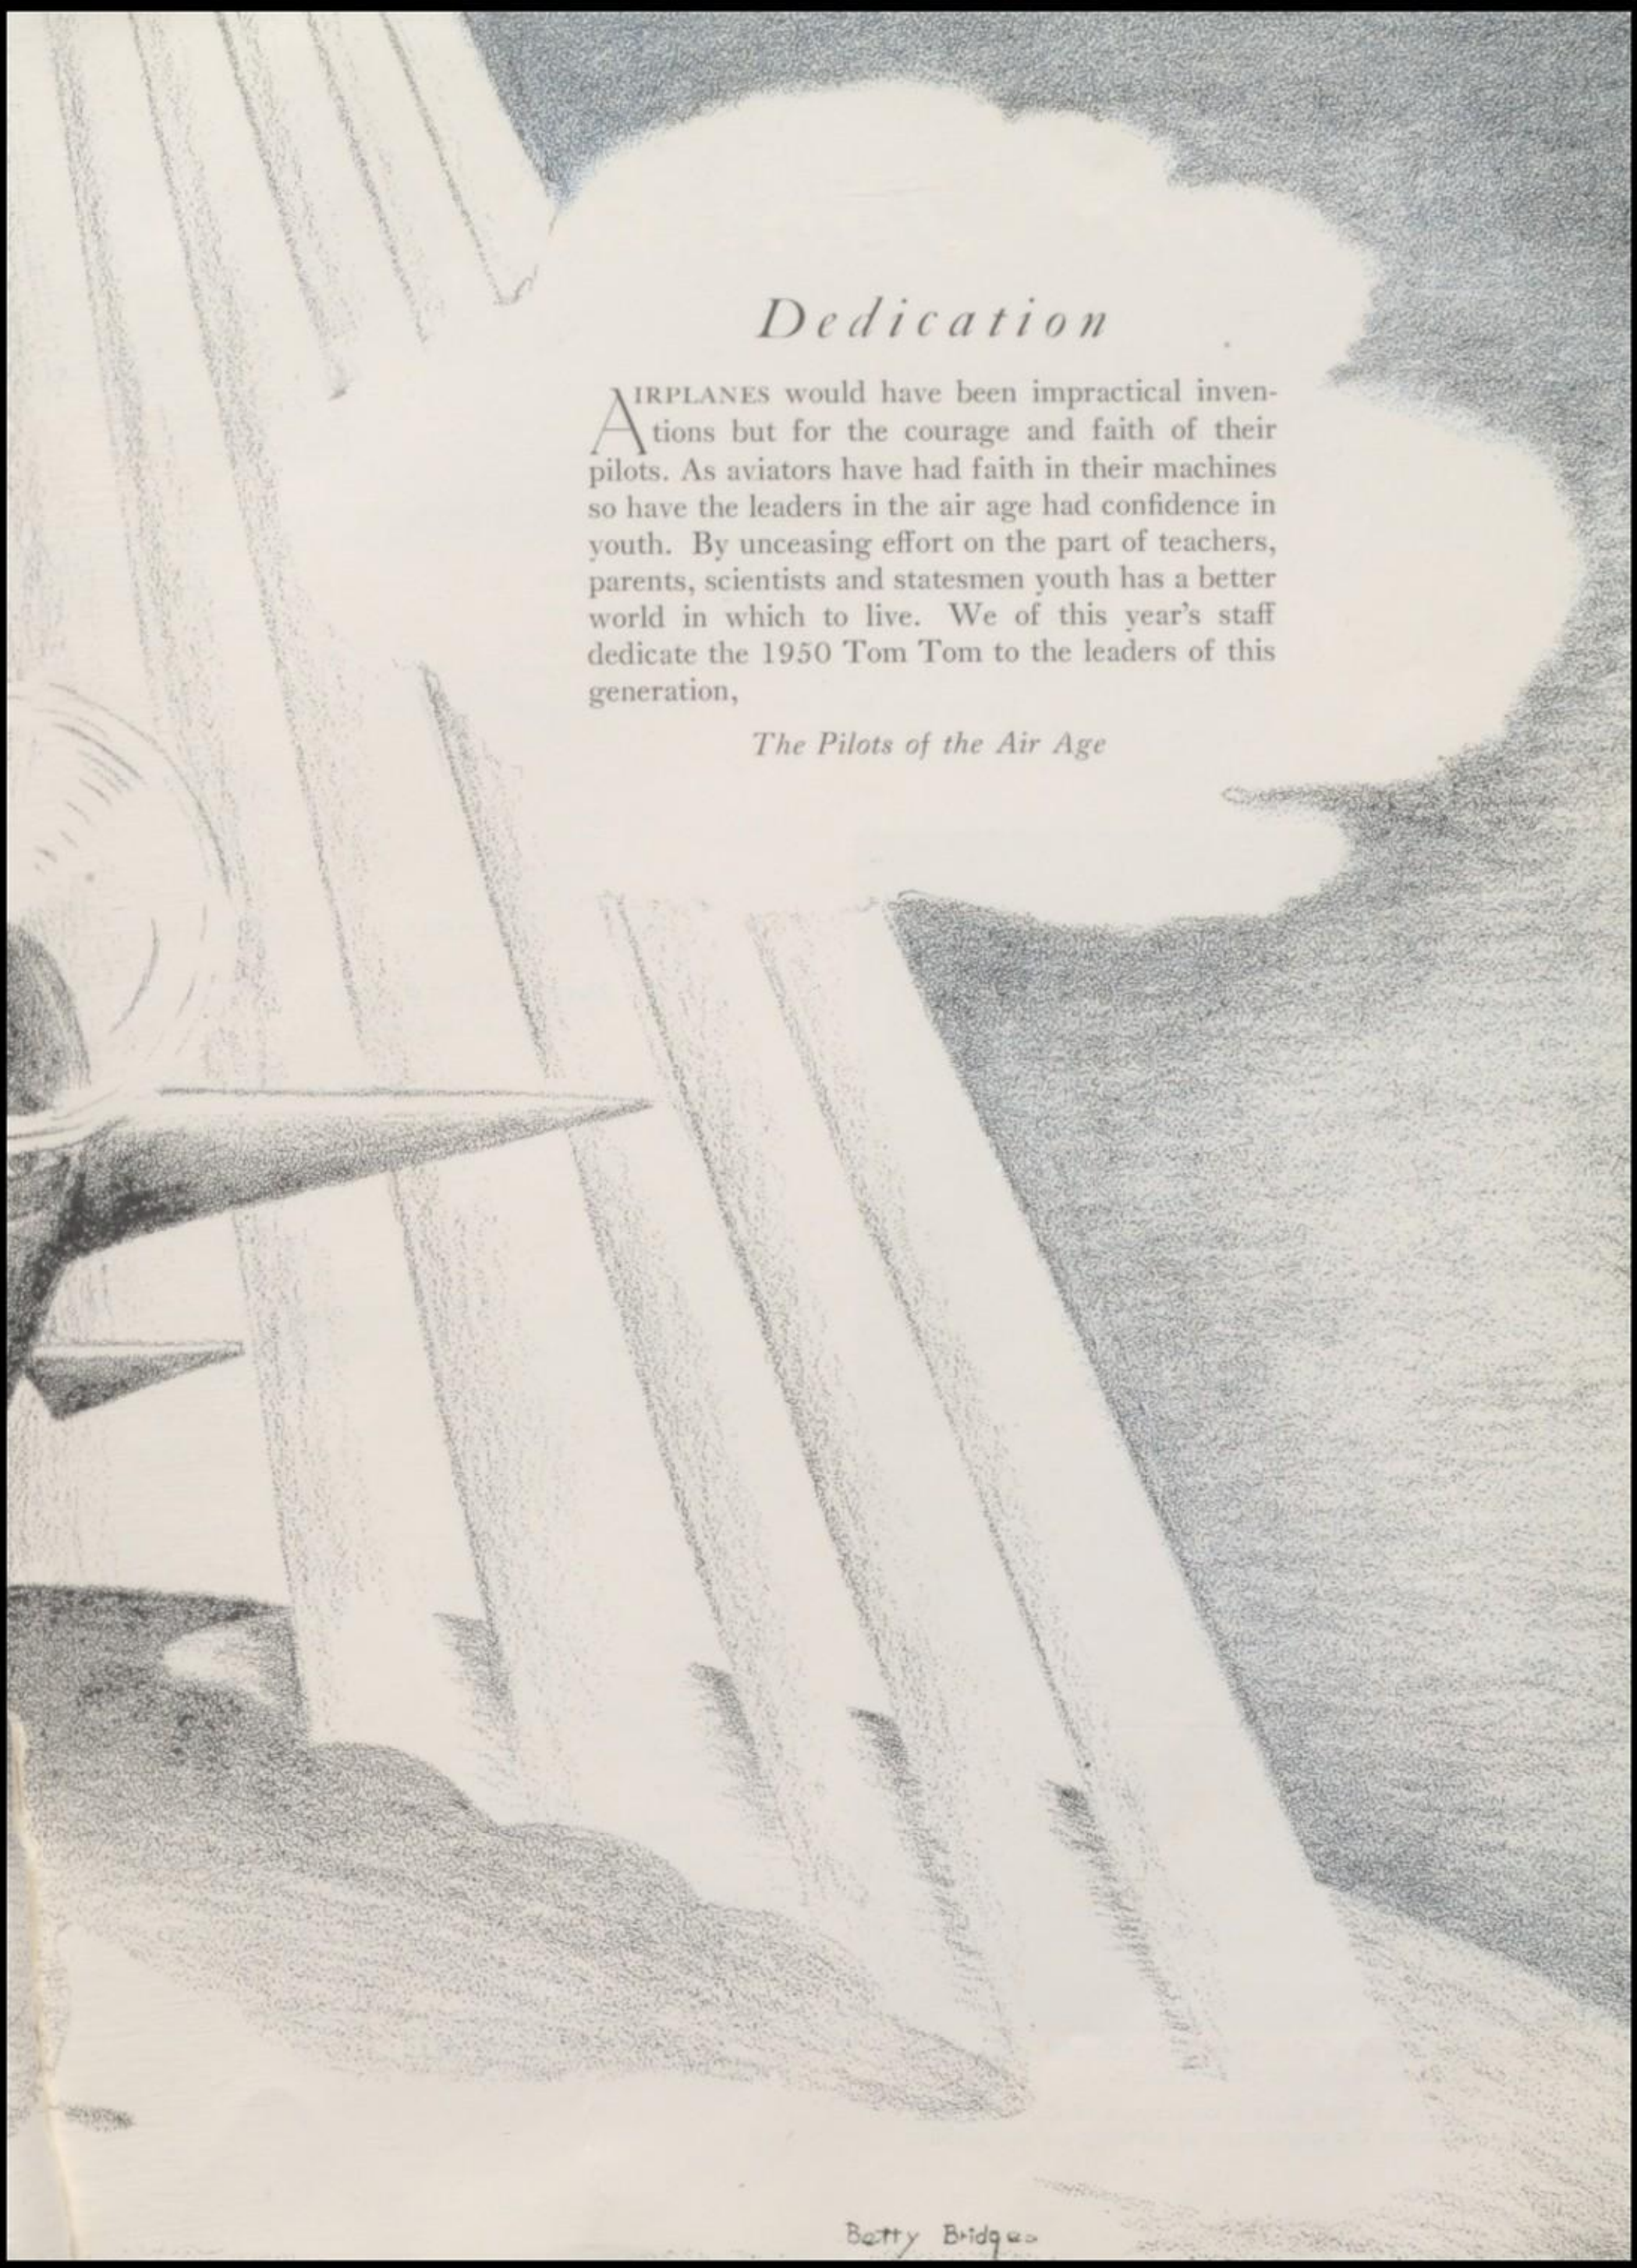
Foreword

AVIATION has brought the nations of this earth closer together. No longer is the world a number of isolated continents. This proximity brings forth the need for peaceful world citizens. At Central three thousand students are learning to become such citizens through academic work, extracurricular activities, and fellowship. The graduates of 1950 face the second half of the century with a challenge to assume their responsibilities in promoting this program of peace as more and more

The World Spreads Its Wings





Dedication

AIRPLANES would have been impractical inventions but for the courage and faith of their pilots. As aviators have had faith in their machines so have the leaders in the air age had confidence in youth. By unceasing effort on the part of teachers, parents, scientists and statesmen youth has a better world in which to live. We of this year's staff dedicate the 1950 Tom Tom to the leaders of this generation,

THE STUDENT COUNCIL CABINET

Democracy in Action

A chance for every member to take part in projects was the keynote of the 1949—1950 Student Council of Central High School. To further this aim, permanent committees were formed to accommodate the needs of this student government association.

Martin Kramer served as president of the Council. Other officers included Jack Davenport, vice-president; Phyllis Perry, corresponding secretary; Sally Bevins, recording secretary; Carol Zeligson, treasurer; Nancy Wallace, parliamentarian; Teddy Couchman, Diane Sanditen, Lee Campbell, and David Sipes, inter-school council representatives. The cabinet was most efficient in guiding the activities of the Council.

Publication of the student directory, Hello Central, was the main project of the program stressing service to the school. A suggestion box was the source of many constructive ideas from the student body. The trophies in Central's well-filled Trophy Room were polished with vigor by a Council committee. In cooperation with one of Tulsa's civic groups a float, designed by the Student Council, was entered in the "Clean-up, Paint-up, and Fix-up" Parade. Book covers and pennants were sold to place funds in the Council treasury. A dance following the Central-Rogers football game was sponsored by this student group.

Meetings were held at 8:20 on Friday morning of alternate weeks. Six members-at-large, selected from the student body, insured the plan of securing different types of delegates for this association. Miss Faye Laird and Miss Bernice Tomlinson were the friendly sponsors of the Student Council.

Southern, state, and city Council conventions were attended by Central representatives. Three students and the two sponsors traveled to Charleston, West Virginia, to attend the Southern Association of Student Councils convention. Charles Conner of Central presided over the December meeting of the Federation of Oklahoma High School Student Councils. In February the intra-city meeting gave students from Tulsa's three high schools a chance to become better acquainted. These contacts made Central's Council members appreciate more fully the apportunities in their own organization.

STUDENT COUNCIL GROUP 1

Both personality and facts go into Alice Florey's report to the council.

STUDENT COUNCIL GROUP 2

FIRST ROW: Johna Zachary, Barbara Taulman, Doris Racette, Phyllis Mirkin, Mary Ann Morrow, Marcia Millikan, Pat Henry, Wanda Roberts, Inez Lee Pate, Martha McGinnis, Shirley Seale. High Flight

Oh, I have slipped the surly bonds of earth
And danced the skies on laughter-silvered wings;
Sunward I've climbed and joined the tumbling mirth
Of sun-split clouds—and done a hundred things
You have not dreamed of—wheeled and soared and swung
High in the sunlit silence. Hov'ring there,
I've chased the shouting wind along and flung
My eager craft through floorless halls of air.

Up, up the long delicious, burning blue
I've topped the wind-swept heights with easy grace,
Where never lark, or even eagle flew;
And while with silent, lifting mind I've trod
The high untrespassed sanctity of space,
Put out my hand and touched the face of God.

Nifty Is the Class of '50

It is hard to believe that only three short years ago, on September 4, 1947, a promising group of sophomores entered Central. Miss Gertrude Rector, the sophomore class adviser, said that this was one of the ablest classes that she had ever had under her direction. The successful sophomore class play, Remember the Day, made the rest of the school realize that the Class of Fifty had been marked by destiny. Charles Conner performed the duties of class president with the utmost skill and authority.

A taste of what their senior year held was experienced by the juniors as they selected their rings and pins. In addition to their heaviest scholastic load, these middle classmen participated actively in the extracurricular activities that Central offered. With the help of Miss Isabelle Ronan and Miss Lulu B. Beckington, class adviser, the hilarious junior class play, The Poor Nut, was presented. Tom Parker proved to be an enthusiastic prexy for this nifty group.

"We've got rhythm; we've got pep. Gee! Our class is really hep!" These lines of the class song, written by Tom Parker, pictured the seniors of 1950. Getting their class rings and having their last Tom Tom picture taken made the seniors realize that this was their final year at Central. Electing the football queen and her attendants was a thrilling time. The class adviser, Miss Beckington, and the president, Clealon Campbell, were pleased with the senior class play, Life with Mother, even though the number of redheads in this class had to be increased by the aid of a few chemicals. At the Christmas assembly Jolly Kris Kringle was played by none other than our assistant principal, Mr. Lieb Richmond.

Springtime was ushered in with the Daze, Ritz Week and KVOO Day. Plans for the coming years were given thoughtful consideration by the graduating class.

Central's most appropriate good-by was in the fine spirit of the Farewell Assembly, that breakfast at Mohawk park, the dinner party, and the vesper services.

May 26, 1950, was the climax of a series of memorable activities. The commencement exercises brought down the curtain on one phase of the Seniors' lives, but it served to inspire them for challenges yet to be encountered.

Which way are they going, George? Bad weather causes a traffic jam at Sixth and Cincinnati streets.

Service plus! A special school bus delivers part of Central's many students.

BELOW: B-r-r-r! Doris Bailey exclaims that the snow in her anklet is cold.

Full of Fun Is the Class of '51

The Class of 1951 started their 1949-1950 junior year off right with 1027 enrolled. Under the guidance of Miss Ednamay Weeks, the class adviser, these students had an eventful and interesting thirty-six weeks.

The junior class cabinet consisted of Jim Metzer, president; John Fields, vice-president; Marilyn Caldwell, secretary; Jerry Dunn, treasurer; and Lou Thompson and Elmo Whitehead, representatives to Youth Incorporated. They proved very capable in planning interesting activities for their fellow classmates, including assemblies and a play.

On November 4 and 5 the junior class presented the three act comedy, Once and For All. The play with a cast of twenty-two starred Marianne Bremer and Bill Winchester. Class members showed their support by selling 1500 tickets. The class was divided into two teams, the Red Sox and the White Sox. After a very close contest, the White Sox rose victorious.

Representing the class in beauty were Marilyn Caldwell, Ann Francis and Marianne Bremer, junior queen attendants.

Besides the subjects in Central which are open to all three classes, there are some which consist almost entirely of juniors. One of these is junior English with the memorable study of Macbeth and The Tale of Two Cities. Another subject is chemistry where future scientists struggle to pass the valence test. Strictly junior is the subject of personal relationships, formerly known as home living. Etiquette and social adaptations are taught here.

Perhaps the most significant event of the year is the choice of the senior class rings. The pin and ring committee chose three from which the class as a whole made the final decision.

Although the events of this year have been important to all middleclassmen, the juniors realize the year is really a stepping stone to the most important year of their high school days, the year when they will be seniors.

Efforts of Leonardo Da Vinci, Otto Lilienthal, and the Wright brothers are milestones in the history of aviation

Sophomore Story

The Sophomore class not only was one of the high ticket salesman for the opera but has been high in many other school functions of the year. Under the capable guidance of Miss Gertrude Rector, the class adviser, and their cabinet, the class got off to a good start on the three-year road to success. The cabinet consisted of Sammy Meason, president; Larry Greer, vice-president; Charles Johnson, secretary; Jan Arps, treasurer; and Shirley Adams and Larry McCord, Youth Incorporated representatives.

The entertainment for the Sophomore Mixer, given October 22, brought out musical talent and unusual comedians, who of course add to the reputation of this exceptional class.

Other talent was discovered when the play, Tom Sawyer, was given January 27-28. The play with an excellent cast starred Jimmy Jones as Tom and Donna Moore as Becky.

The three beauties chosen by the class as attendants to the queen were Shirley Alexander, Judy McDaniel and Jo Ann Sutton.

This class with its enthusiastic students and wonderful spirit of co-operation will not find it difficult to become one of the best classes ever to graduate from Central High School.

First and Ten!

All Central was proud of its 1949 football team. Although Coach Melvin E. Riggs said that this team was the lightest team he had ever coached at Central, the boys made up for their lack of size with plenty of speed, fight and spirit.

The loyal Central boosters who went to see the Braves play the Bartlesville Wildcats watched these two fighting teams play to a 0 to 0 deadlock, highlighted by the goal line stand which stopped the Wildcats on the one-yard line.

The bigger they come, the harder they fall. This was heard all over school when the Braves, led by their all-state player, Jerry Coody, defeated their arch rivals, the Rogers Ropers, 6 to 0.

Okmulgee and Webster were next in line. They fell before the Braves 27 to 7, and 43 to 0. The victory over the Warriors gave Central the city title.

Central had to go all out to defeat the Shawnee Wolves, 26 to 25. With three of Central's regulars out, the weakened Central team travelled to Muskogee, where their championship hopes were ended by a 26 to 12 Muskogee victory.

The Braves beat Oklahoma City Central 14 to 0. In the last game of the season, the Sapulpa Chieftains held the Braves to a 13 to 13 deadlock.

Get 'em Ready!

The Central cross-country team won the state title at the University of Oklahoma for the second straight year. Hard training and the expert guidance of Coach William C. Lantz enabled the boys to defeat four state teams. The team was led by George Gilmour who finished second in the state meet at Norman.

The cross-country team also won the Oklahoma A&M state meet over the rugged hills of Stillwater's golf course. George Gilmour was the winner. Rogers was twice defeated in dual competition.

The lettermen were Bob Anderson, Tom Campbell, George DeShazo, Jerry Dunn, Leslie George, George Gilmour, and John Gotcher. Dunn, DeShazo and Gotcher, the returning lettermen, will try to repeat as state champs next year.

Cross Country lettermen keep in shape by running around the building.

Put 'Em in the Basket

Conference and regional champions, winner of the first Will Rogers invitational tournament, these are the titles displayed proudly by the 1949-50 basketball team of Central. In winning these titles the team compiled a record of 20 games won and 4 lost, one of the best held by a Central team in many years. The team, coached for the first year by Mr. Clarence Ehlers, scored the round number of 1000 points, for a 43.5 average, while holding its opponents to 819 points, or a 35.6 average a game.

The Central players take a time out during the hectic Rogers game.

Included in Central's 20 and 4 record were such standouts as its 37 point victory over Sapulpa, its 22 point win over Fayetteville and its 19 point rout of Webster. Dick Nunneley was very instrumental in Central's victorious season, leading the team with a 13-point average. Nunneley along with teammate John Faulk, placed on the all city team, and Nunneley achieved state honor. Besides Nunneley and Faulk, lettermen included Jerry Andress, Charles Archambo, Tom Askew, James Bailey, Henry Bercutt, Bob Eidson, Frank Morrow and Ernie Stewart.

Batter Up!

With coach Rex Peery at the helm, Central's 1949 baseball team was piloted through another fine season. Six returning lettermen provided a strong nucleus for a team that packed as much power as any in the state.

Central completed the season with a record of thirteen games won and three lost. The Braves rolled along winning their first eleven games before dropping a hard fought battle to Stillwater. They then lost to Rogers 9 to 4 in their bid for the state title.

The lettermen for the 1949 season were Eddie Apple, Jerry Brazel, Jerry Coody, Parke Davis, Mac Doublin, Charles Fisher, Thompson Keenan, Ray Martin, Dick Morris, Howard Moss, Jim Thaxton, Jim Tillman, Jerry Webster, and Kenneth Wyble. The new baseball coach appointed for the 1950 season was Mr. Clyde Charvoz. The returning lettermen were Apple, Coody, Fisher, and Morris.

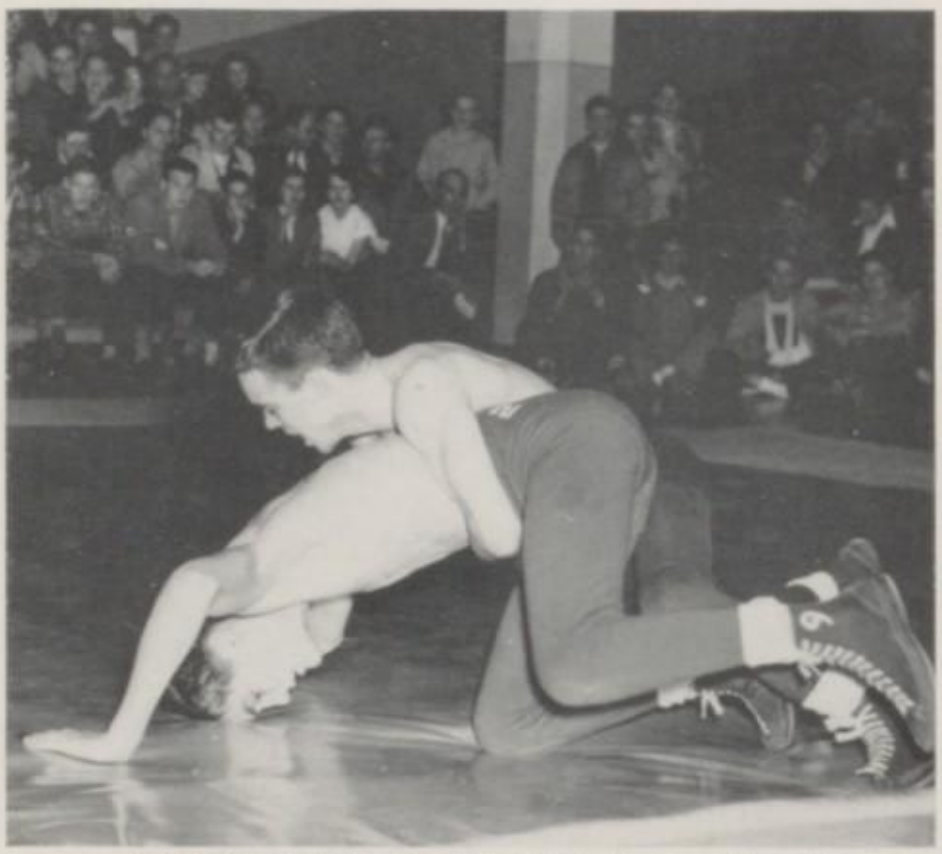
Take Him Down!

During the 1949-1950 wrestling season the Central Braves, under the direction of Coaches George Dorsch and Clyde Charvoz, compiled another exceptional record. The Braves completed the season undefeated. In addition they carried away first place honors in the O. M. A. tournament.



Hugh Peery piles up riding time in a match with Carlos Benge of Webster.

The state championship tournament held at Tulsa Central brought together the outstanding wrestlers from all sections of Oklahoma. Daniel Webster won first place honors with 33 points while Tulsa Central came in a close second with 31 points. The boys winning individual championships were Jerry Haynes in the 103 pound class and Hugh Perry in the 112. Bill Endacott at 120, Kneel Ball at 127, John Eagleton at 138 and Bill Hawkins at 154 all took second place honors.

The 1950 lettermen include Kneel Ball, John Eagleton, Kenneth Ellis, Bill Endacott, Frank Foutch, Jimmy Green, Bill Hawkins, Jerry Haynes, Lee Martin, Wilburn McAfee, Hugh Peery, Bob Smith and Bob Stokes. The team elected Hugh Peery as honorary captain. John Eagleton's name was added to the wrestling citizenship trophy.

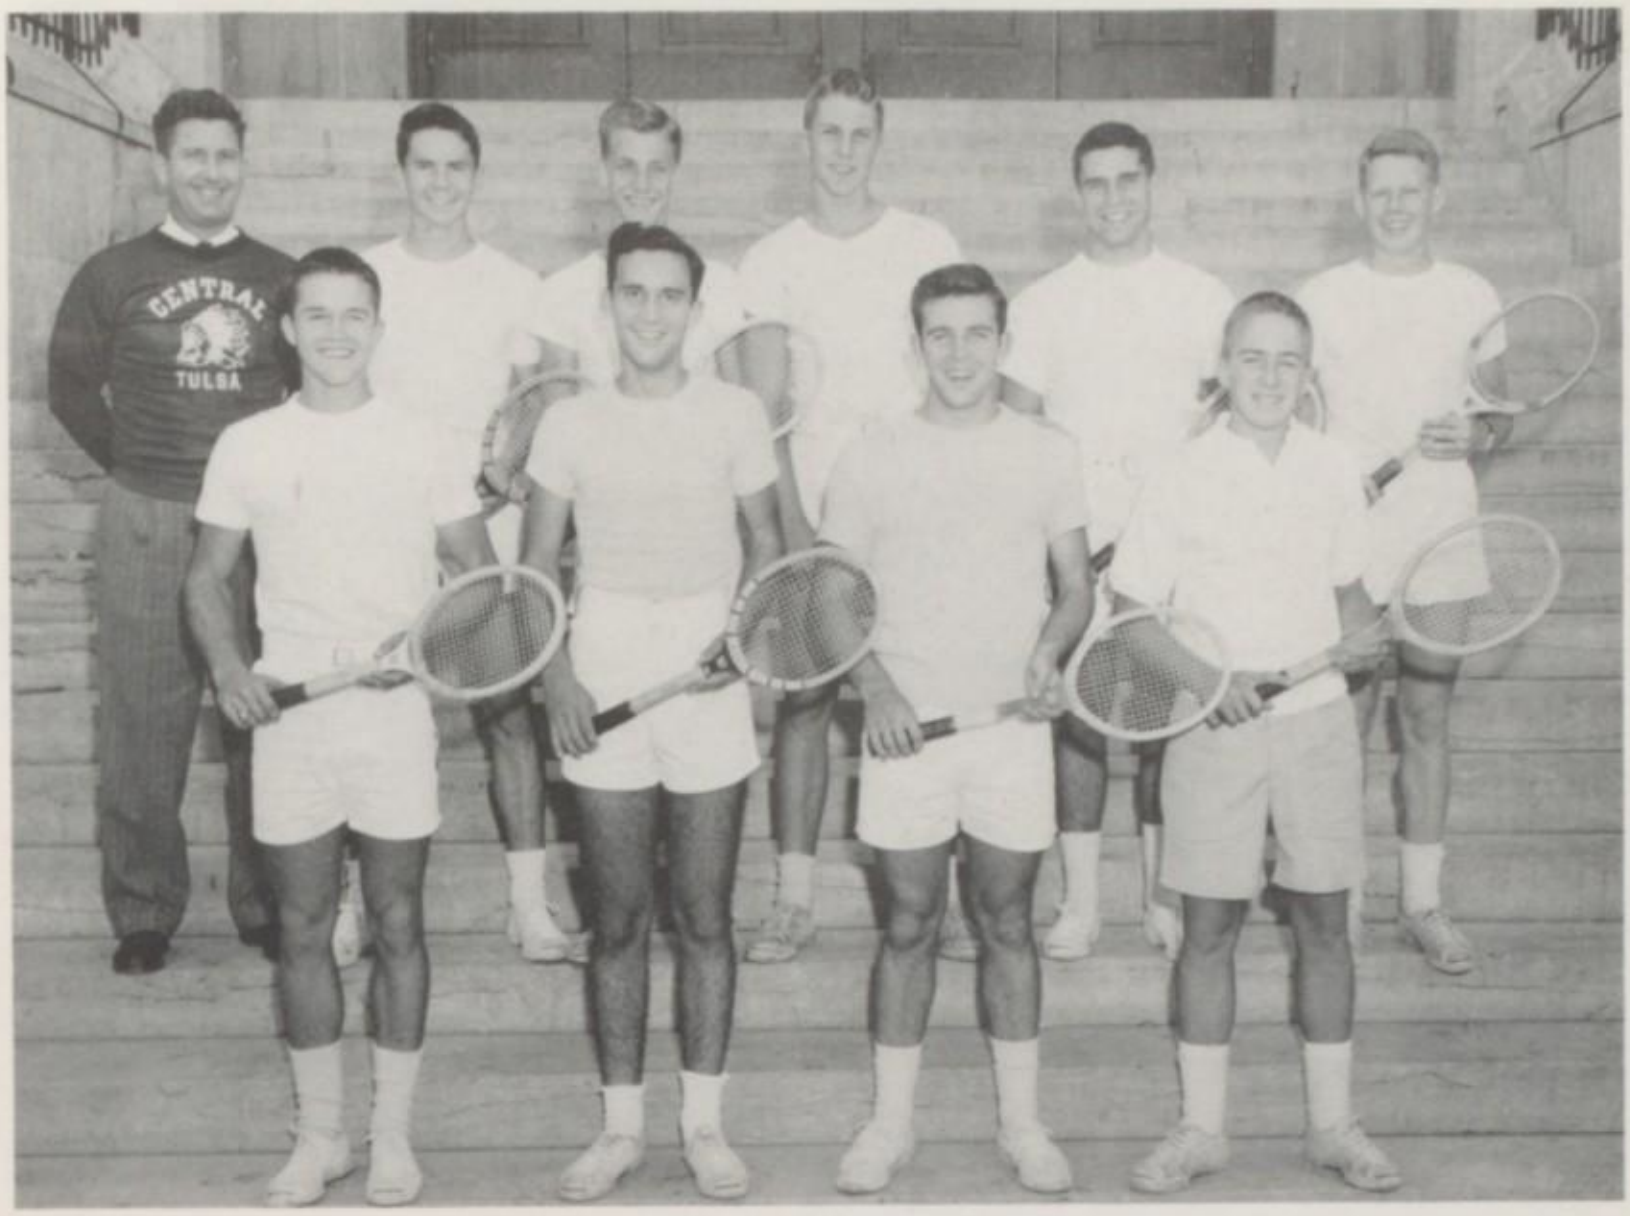
Fore!

Under the capable leadership of Coach Melvin E. Riggs, Central's 1949 golf team, though it had no returning lettermen, compiled an imposing record. This squad composed almost entirely of sophomores and juniors won seven out of eight dual matches, finished second in the conference meet, and placed fourth in the state meet. The only team that came out ahead of Central in dual meets was a strong Muskogee five, who also went Central one better in the conference meet.

The 1950 team is headed by four returning lettermen: Bobby Ellis, Jim Lewis, Roger Ratliff and Joe Seibert.



TENNIS

Forty-Love!

With four returning lettermen, the 1949 tennis team was out to surpass its fine record of the previous year. Last year's record was far surpassed, for the team went undefeated through seven dual matches and finished first in the Interstate, Oklahoma Six, Conference and State meets.

With Coach Clarence Ehlers giving the team its inspiration, it defeated the tennis teams representing Will Rogers, Bartlesville, Muskogee and Cascia Hall High Schools.

In the State Meet it was all Central. Buddy Thompson placed first in singles, and John Russell teamed with Jerry Greenburg to win the doubles. The entire team was lost to graduation, but there were several able juniors who carried Central's colors this year.

Runners to Your Mark!

Under the guidance of Mr. William C. Lantz, the Central track team began the 1949 season by running away with the honors in its first meet at Ada. It continued the good work by beating Rogers in a dual meet. The Braces also placed first in the Okmulgee Relays and the important Regional Meet. In the State Meet they placed third.

Jerry Burtner gives it all he's got to capture the lead in the grueling half-mile.

Lettermen for the 1949 season were Bob Beam, Tom Beam, Jerry Burtner, Jack DeWeese, Bruce Drummond, Bill Humes, Jack Jennings, Bob Leachman, Rex Kenslow, Alton Mann, Lloyd McGuire, Hubert Nichols, Bill O'Brien, Don Pearson, Charles Roller and Roscoe Vrooman. Kenslow, Roller and Vrooman returned for the 1950 season.

Participation for All

One of the newest organizations at Central is the Boys' League. It was organized during the past year to give the boys a better chance to meet together for the purpose of group expression, building up good relations among the members and promoting wholesome group activity.

At the first election each class chose its own officers. The senior cabinet consisted of Jerry Coody, president; Thompson Keenan, vice-president; Tom Hubeli, secretary; and Jerry Sparks, treasurer. The junior officers were Bill Hawkins, president; John Fields, vice-president; Dan Tucker, secretary; and Harold Grammer, treasurer. Leading the sophomore class were Dick Mason, president; Jerry Greer, vice-president; Bruce Jones, secretary; and Tommy Harris, treasurer.

Once each month the Boys' League had assemblies which were planned by the boys, under the direction of Mr. Lieb Richmond, dean of boys. Delegates from each home room were also kept busy fulfilling their obligations. The realization of most of its objectives has proved the value of the Boys' League which gives promise of continued existence at Central for many years.

Big wheel deal! The sponsor and presidents of the Boys' League meet. Thompson Keenan, Bill Hawkins, Mr. Richmond, and Dick Mason confer on a problem.

STANDING: Carolyn Simpson, senior treasurer; Bessie McAlpine, senior secretary; Peggy Rowland, junior president.

Promotion of Friendly Relations

Under the guidance of Mrs. Minnie May Summers, the Girls' League delegates continued many of last years' activities and resumed some new ones. For the fourth consecutive year, the delegates held a drive to support a child under the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children. The drive was held in November. Enough money was collected to support Mario Lini for a year.

Contributions were also made to the Babies Milk Fund. Delegates placed milk bottles in the home rooms, the main office and the cafeteria for those who wished to contribute.

So that the Girls' League could work more efficiently, committees were set up at the first delegate meeting. Pins for the Girls' League were ordered in December. Peggy Rowland, the junior Girls' League president, was elected to represent Central on the board to help colored girls at Taft, Oklahoma.

Linda Hale was the Central representative to Girls' State at Oklahoma College for Women. Bonnie Barham, last year's senior president, received the D. A. R. citizenship award.

Mario Lini is the Italian war refugee adopted by the girls of Central.

Heap Big Chieftains

The roar that issued from the north auditorium on alternate Wednesdays of the month was the wild cheering of the two hundred members of the Scalpers. At these meetings the boys practiced yells to be used at athletic events and planned various activities.

Presiding over the Scalpers this year was Jerry Brickner. A. G. McElroy was vice-president; Thompson Keenan, secretary; and John Chambers, treasurer. John Chick was head cheerleader. Other cheerleaders were Harold Laughlin, senior; Jim Green and Bill McMurray, juniors; and Bobby Randolph, George DeShazo and Larry Lofton, sophomores. Mr. W. B. Wise and Mr. Fred Broadhead sponsored the club.

Besides cheering at athletic contests, the Scalpers participated in many other activities. Chief among these was ushering at the school production, the Daze. The fine decorations at football games and at the Queen's Coronation Ball were put up by the boys' pep club.

The Scalpers, in cooperation with the Red Feathers, sponsored an all school dance after the Central-Webster football game. All in all, it was a cheery year.

Our Pride and Joy

Membership in the Letterman's Club is exclusive to those boys who have earned a T in athletics. The purpose of the club is to instill the desire for clean sportsmanship, strong fellowship and loyalty to the school.

The club was organized in 1925 as the Boys' Athletic Council. It has developed into an organization which enables the lettermen to get together to know one another. A program was arranged for each meeting. Sometimes students from Central with musical talent assisted, or an outstanding coach of athletics spoke.

Meetings were held every other Thursday morning during home room. Club officers for the year were Thompson Keenan, president; Lou Lasiter, vice-president; Tom Sisson, secretary; and Hugh Peery, treasurer. The sponsor of the club was Mr. Grady Skillern, director of athletics.

During the course of the year the club had its spring picnic and the letterman's party. Because of weather conditions the fall picnic was cancelled.

Grover Nance is accompanied by Elvina Truman to entertain lettermen.

Pretty Little Squaws

All for Central stand up and holler! This season yells from the 809 Red Feather members inspired Central athletes on to victory in many close contests. In a reserved section the eager pepsters were identified by their cheery red and white uniforms.

Divided into 37 squads, the energetic Red Feathers earned points by attending games and meetings, writing songs and yells, selling football pins, and decorating the gym for the Queen's Ball. The three winning squads got their pictures in the Tom Tom. Each member of the top squad during basketball season received a red felt feather.

At their regular Thursday morning meetings, the Red Feathers practiced yells and learned many technical points about football, basketball, and wrestling from Coaches Melvin Riggs, Clarence Ehlers and George Dorsch, respectively. Gloria Henry served as president of the girls' pep organization. Other officers were Mary Crites, vice-president; Peggy Philp, secretary: and Sue Aitkin, treasurer.

Added attractions to the football games were the lively "Charleston" numbers by the senior cheerleaders, Ann Jones and Patsy Carney.

Planning the pep assemblies and weekly meetings were enjoyable tasks for the sponsors Miss Ruth Draper, Miss Mary Katherine Winn, Miss Mary Louise Lovell and Mrs. Geraldine Ness. Red Feathers played a vital part in promoting the fine school spirit for which Central is noted.

Thought, Speech and Action

"Speech for use" is the motto of Speakers' Bureau, one of the liveliest organizations at Central. Under the direction of Miss Alphild Larson, the activities of this group are varied and interesting.

Two discussions on "What's wrong with men?" and "What's wrong with women?" highlighted the first meetings of the Bureau. Impromptu speeches, as well as prepared talks on vocations, were given by the members as the meetings at 8:15 on Monday and Tuesday mornings of alternate weeks progressed throughout the year.

The Speakers' Bureau gavel was wielded this year by Bob Kahle. Assisting him were Tom Parker, vice-president; Patty Fenn, recording secretary; Jennylea Goodnough, corresponding secretary; Jerry Judd, treasurer; and Peggy Rowland, sergeant-at-arms. The cabinet and other members had a memorable time one Friday afternoon at Peggy Philp's cabin. A Christmas party was another unforgettable event on the organization's calendar.

Since Bureau members are proficient in speech and dramatics, participation in plays, school assemblies and the Daze is only natural. New acquaintances and common interests have made this year an exciting one for Speakers' Bureau members.

Lee Martin imparts some humor in his news coverage for the Speakers' Bureau members.

A Scarlet Band

Anne Bailliere, Queen of the Central Band

Central's football season wouldn't have been complete without the stirring music of her band. Intricate marching drills given between halves at the football games were the result of many hours of practice. The band also performed for school assemblies and community parades.

April brought the joint concert of the band and orchestra, as well as a picnic. In May the annual banquet served as the finale of a busy school year.

In the realm of beauty Anne Bailliere ruled as band queen with her attendants, Ann Jones,

Talented Musicians of Exceptional Note

Once again the orchestra brought to the attention of Central students the beauty of all types of music. The Haydn Symphony No. 7 ranked high among the favorite pieces of the orchestra members. Fourth hour in Room 237 furnished some melodious strains to fill the school corridors as well as to prepare for performances before small groups and organizations.

November found these hard-working musicians rehearsing for the presentation of the "Ballad for Americans" on an assembly. Twice during the year the orchestra accompanied the school choruses in programs for the public, once for the "Messiah" and once for the Spring Festival. The efforts of both the students and the director made these programs most enjoyable.

Mr. Clarence Gates, director, was assisted by Rod Buckles, student director of the orchestra. Each year a student director is chosen not only for his musical ability but also for his poise and ease on the podium. The officers of the group included Robert Kahle, president; Gloria Gram, vice-president; Beverly Brandes, secretary; Ronnie Gates, treasurer; Heidi Bloesch, senior councilman; Sara Ann Smith, junior councilman; and Alice Morris, sophomore councilman.

The social chairmen, Katherine Kerr and Pat McCune, planned a big picnic and banquet in conjunction with the band. In February many orchestra members attended the All-State Orchestra Clinic in Norman as the highlight in a year of activities that combined both work and play.

The string section really vibrates during orchestra rehearsal.

A Wide Range of Enjoyable Selections

The A Cappella year was first begun with the official business. Don Landrith was elected president; Corky Kelsey, vice-president; Peggy Ashby, secretary; Howard Brown, treasurer. Joy Lou Whitsett was called upon to accompany the choir.

A Cappella performed before many groups and organizations throught-out the year. Besides their assemblies presented here at Central, they have performances at Horace Mann and Lowell Junior High School and also a program at Booker T. Washington.

Various churches had the pleasure of the heavenly blendings of the eighty A Cappella voices. The Parent Teachers Association was entertained many times by the choir, and the greatest treat of all to Tulsans was the annual Philbrook concert.

The highlight of every member's year was the news of the classes of 1950 and 1951 giving the A Cappella choir new robes. The robes are a beautiful maroon with long pointed sleeves. From the round yoke in front and back hang the long, gathered skirts. For weeks the choir has been trying their robes on to measure the length of the skirts so they will all be the same distance from the floor and look uniform. There are different necklines on the new robes. They are square instead of round.

Now that she has her voices adorned with beautifully sweeping new robes, Central is set just right for her musical entertainment.

"These are swell!" says Don Landrith to Howard Brown as they and Peggy Ashby and Betsy Nash try on the new A Cappella choir robes.

Louise Nolan rehearses her solo, "There Are Such Things," before the St. Cecilians' assembly program.

Feminine Voices for Entertainment Plus

Heavenly music is prevailing at Central. During fifth hour the beautifully blended voices of St. Cecilians are heard sweetly straining forth from Room 426.

The sixty-eight girls are always working to develop their voices to prefect pitch, round and full volume and clearly pronounced words. However, they don't have far to go.

Ever since they organized in 1927, the St. Cecilians have taken part in assembly programs, music festivals, spring concerts and the Christmas presentation of Handel's "Messiah."

At the Christmas assembly they contributed to the program with "O Jesus, So Sweet" and "Ave Maria". In their own assembly program in January, the outstanding choral arrangements were "The Star", "Snow Legend" and the ever popular "There Are Such Things".

The St. Cecilians were accompanied by Elvina Truman, who was also president of the organization. Mary Sue Goins was vice-president, Lizzy Flinn, secretary; and Ettamarie Wilson, treasurer.

With the sincere help and direction of Mr. Raymond Light, the St. Cecelians improved everyday on their vocal blend. Central is indeed proud of them.

Perched on his stool, Mr. Light directs the girls in their daily vocalizing with Elvina Truman accompanying on the piano.

Opera Club Presents Naughty Marietta

The Opera Club had a successful year during 1949-1950. The seventy-two members were eager to make it a good one, for they worked hard. With Mr. Raymond Light to help them, their voices blended beautifully. Don Wagner, president; Tom Parker, vice-president; Peggy Philp, secretary; and Jennylea Goodnough, treasurer, aided the members with the official side of their business.

To start the year off right, the club gave a patriotic operetta, Ballad for Americans, on the Armistice Day assembly. 'Twas The Night Before Christmas put everyone in the holiday spirit at the Christmas assembly.

The club also took part in the Messiah at Christmas, the spring concert and the music festival.

The highlight of every member's year was the presentation of the opera, Naughty Marietta. The club started working on it before Christmas vacation and gave the two performances February 16 and 17. The leads were sung by Pope Economou as Marietta, Jack Eddleman as captain Dick, John Chick as Etienne, Lutie Lee Curry as Adah.

Great laud is due to the Opera club for their splendid entertainment this year. But why shouldn't it be splendid, for beautiful music is what the world loves best.

"We'll call us just good comrades, or simply chums will do", sing Pope Economou and Jack Eddleman in the opera, NAUGHTY MARIETTA.

Armchair Travelers

The International Club is designed to stimulate interest in international affairs by giving students an opportunity to discuss world problems among themselves and with guest speakers.

Through the efforts of the program chairman, Mary Ann Parks, the club had many very interesting meetings. Neil Johanneson spoke of his experiences as a student at the University of Geneva, Switzerland. Miss Bertie Goetschius and Miss Louise Wilson brought interesting accounts of their summer vacations in Europe. Mr. Ralph Cabanas from Puerto Rico gave a realistic description of life in his native land. Another outstanding speaker was Miss Ann Dawson who told about her visit with friends in Scotland.

The club undertook several projects during the year. Two of the most successful were a drive for contributions to C.A.R.E. and the sale of T.C.T.A. lecture tickets.

Officers of the past year were Kent Wood, president; Pat McCune, vice-president; Sarah Ann Smith, secretary; and Mary Ann Parks, treasurer. The sponsor of the club was Miss Sara Coleman.

Members of the International Club feel that they are preparing themselves to be good citizens not only of the community and the nation, but of the world as well.

Sarah Ann Smith, Bill Parks, Charles Fixmer and Mary Ann Parks count the C.A.R.E. money contributed by Central students.

Tickets, Please

Members of the Camarata Club were busy this year ushering at the school plays and other functions. The girls in their dark skirts and white blouses assisted bewildered parents to their assigned rooms at the P.T.A. reception and the Back-to-School night program.

Camarata was called to order by the president, Lynn Jillson, on alternate Friday mornings during home room. Under the guidance of Miss Esther Larson this organization of junior and senior girls promoted interest in social welfare. Other officers assisting Lynn and Miss Larson with the planning were Phyllis Perry, vice-president; Joy Vincent, secretary; and Ann Dunlap, treasurer.

Because so many other organizations this year collected funds from students for various projects, the Camaratas did not sponsor the War Cry magazine, usually an annual event to aid the Salvation Army.

There is fun as well as work in Camarata. The year closed with a party for the incoming members.

Sally Kellam seats some people who are attending the senior class play, Life with Mother.

RED CROSS COUNCIL

For the Good of All

The Red Cross Council is one of Central's outstanding organizations. The sponsors for this year were Miss Lucile Witte and Mrs. Susie Sunderland. The council officers were Ray Wilburn, president; Bill Winchester, vice-president; Ella Vernon, secretary; Darlene Haynes, treasurer; and Elizabeth Byers and Doris Canady, historians. The council meets every other Friday morning. During their meetings the members discuss future projects and the activities of Red Cross Councils in other schools.

The first project of the year was the Junior Red Cross membership drive held during the first three weeks of November. Over $230 was collected. The next project, and one of the most important, was the filling of 260 Christmas gift boxes for overseas. The council carried out an extensive waste paper drive during the year. The money collected on the sale of the papers was used to give parties for the County Farm and to provide supplies for the youngsters in the polio wards. School chests and gifts for children in Europe were made under the guidance of the Council.

Members of the council helped provide entertainment for a Hallowe'en party given at the Veterans' Hospital in Muskogee. Council members also sponsored a birthday party for the old people at the County Farm, sent several entertainment programs to the Crippled Children's Home and helped each month with handicraft work with polio patients at Hillcrest Hospital.

FOURTH ROW: Warren Godwin, Dick Mason, Ellsworth Hales, Jackie Marston, Kenneth Muncy, James Carroll, Bob Harryman, Bill Brown, Jack Hisaw.

Vim and Vigor

Every Monday evening at 7:30 a group of boys gathered at the Y.M.C.A. for a Sigma Hi-Y meeting. Presiding at these sessions was Bob Marston. His cabinet consisted of Don Gregory, vice-president; Ellsworth Hales, secretary; and Kenneth Muncy, treasurer. Dick McKirahan was the sponsor.

During the meetings, the boys saw movies and heard talks about different vocations. They also planned their outside activities. Around Hallowe'en the Sigmas had a combination hayride and wiener roast. A joint ritual was conducted November 6 with other Hi-Y and Keystoner Clubs at the First Christian Church. A Sweetheart Formal was given February 17.

Last, but not least, was the state convention held at the Oklahoma City University in March. The purpose of the convention was to work out problems for better club meetings and a better Sigma organization.

Bob Marston presides at a typical Monday night meeting.

It's a Bull's Eye

The crack of rifles and the whine of bullets that came from the girls' new gym on Tuesday evenings at seven were not announcing another war. The Rifle Club was practicing shots or shooting matches with other clubs.

This year the Rifle Club had matches with the Silver Springs, Maryland, High School, the Oklahoma Military Academy and the Ponca City Military Academy. In the Ponca City match Central beat the highly touted military academy by twenty-six points in one of the toughest matches of the year.

The Rifle Club officers elected in the second semester were John Allen DeVasher, president; Charles Bertalot, secretary-treasurer; and Ben Hatcher, ranger officer. Mr. Edward McCray was sponsor of the club, which was organized to promote better sportsmanship and to teach the fundamentals of good marksmanship.

Graham, director of printing, Gibson Martin, John Black, Bob Stokes, Tom Matthews, Gerrie McConnell, Miss Ruth Holton, sponsor.

Let's Make That Deadline

To compile a full picture of everyday life at Tulsa Central High was the responsibility of the 1950 yearbook class. From the first day of school the Tom Tom staff found that its work was unending. Picture schedules and group write-ups occupied the first semester.

Although their work was completed in the fall, the Tom Tom art class worked hard to create the drawings for this book. After school and Saturdays often found the yearbook artists at their drawing boards. Miss Adams guided the progress of this art class with unceasing effort.

The new editorial sponsor, Miss Ruth Holton, proved to be a friendly companion, who at the same time directed the staff in meeting deadlines. Bessie McAlpine, editor; Carol Hyams, assistant editor; Jennylea Goodnough, business manager; and Tom Matthews and Kent Wood, photographers, remained on the Tom Tom staff second semester to tie up loose ends with last minute work.

Every member of the 1950 yearbook class has come to realize the work involved in producing a good school annual. The Tom Tom is one of the best heritages at Central. Only by assisting in the production of the Tom Tom does a student fully appreciate the yearbook.

NATIONAL THESPIAN SOCITY

Fifth Row: Frank Morrow, Harold MacDowell, Dave Clark, Charles Conner, Jack Eddleman.

Curtain Going Up

The National Thespian Society, an organization for those who have participated in plays, has grown by leaps and bounds in the past two years. Charles Conner, president, kept business in order with the help of the cabinet: Robert Kahle, vice president; Peggy Philp, recording secretary; and Rosemary Warner, corresponding secretary.

Besides their ardent study of dramatics and splendid example of showmanship, they offered many services to the school. Their knowledge of stage make-up made them invaluable in the make-up room during plays, the opera and the Daze.

Aside from the meetings the club members had many social activities. At Christmas time they had a tea and party at the home of Peggy Philp. Induction of new members was held semi-annually in the spring and fall. At this time the initiates went through ceremonies known only to the Thespians.

Miss Isabelle Ronan, speech director at Central, is the faculty adviser for this group. She is also a regional director of the national organization.

Officers of the Thespians preside at the tea table during their Christmas meeting.

Allen, Richard Bray, Rod Buckles, Martin Kramer, Danny Crossland, Dal Wertzberger, Norman Rowland.

Get That Story In

Up and down the stairs in search of vital news from a hundred home rooms, then back to the office to write it, this was the daily schedule for twenty-two School Life reporters. Miss Ann Crotchett was their instructor.

Twelve of the staff members attended the convention in November at Norman. Here they were given lectures and helpful suggestions for publishing a paper. For two years School Life has won the first prize in the state contest for student publications.

After the 25 regular issues were published, the staff was busy with the final senior edition of School Life in which due attention was paid the seniors of the school. Another spring activity not to be forgotten by the staff was the purchasing of the food for the Senior breakfast at Mohawk Park during commencement week.

These School Life reporters take time from their usual jobs of writing and headlining.

Seeking Facts, Not Fancy

The Tulsa Historical Society of Central High School under the sponsorship of Mrs. Louise Whitham has completed its twelfth year of worthwhile projects. By commission of the Tulsa Water Department, the society selected a name, Yahola, for the combined Mohawk and Sequoyah lakes. Yahola was the word for leadership in the language of the Creek Indians. This symbol of honor was bestowed on A Chee, the Creek Indian who began the first permanent settlement of Tulsa in 1836.

Furnishing part of the program for the twenty-fifth anniversary of bringing water from Spavinaw to Tulsa was part of the year's activities. The society also laid the cornerstone for the new historical pavilion overlooking Lake Yahola. Through funds raised by the sale of historical post cards, three bronze plaques with inscriptions prepared by the Tulsa Historical Society are going to be placed in the rotunda of the new pavilion.

Elections of officers were held at the beginning of the first and second semesters. Bob Keeth and Rex Kenslow served as presidents. Norma Perrin and Azalia McDonald were vice-presidents with Wallis Womack and Jeannie Hunter, secretaries. Beverly Wilson was treasurer both semesters.

In addition to the regular advisory board, seven new consultants were named. They are Ben O. Kirkpatrick, Martin Wiesendanger, William McMurray, Lloyd Sanders, the Reverend Charles Kerr, Mrs. Ann Archer and Mrs. Nell Perrine.

W. B. Allan, Mrs. Louise Whitham, Beverly Wilson, Bob Keeth and Lorene Ross meet to discuss future projects for the Historical Society.

SEVENTH ROW: Joe Stanley Green, Neil Mooney, Charles Fixmer, Ted Waibel, Bill Winchester, Jim Wilhelm.

Chemists of Intelligence

The Chemistry Club, under the guidance of Mr. George Hall, enjoyed a most profitable year. The scientists-to-be who led the club were Bill Winchester, president; John Chambers, vice-president; Pat Olds, secretary; Bill Hoffmeister, treasurer; and Norman Rowland, reporter.

The members took many interesting field trips, including excursions to a glass blowing laboratory, the Kerr Jar Company, a refinery, a water softening plant, and a pottery company.

The members of the Chemistry Club were fortunate enough to hear several fine speakers. Walter Jenkins, a former Central student, gave a demonstration of glass blowing, and Mr. Brutus Beall of the science department gave a lecture on the gas laws.

The club's chief project for the year was a study of glass, glass products and the silicates. Some of the members also participated in a project in photography.

The club's various parties all helped to round out an enjoyable and profitable year.

Stanley Wells, Mr. Hall, Bill Hoffmeister, Pat Olds, and John Chambers make plans for the next Chemistry Club meeting.

DISTRIBUTORS' CLUB

Exceptional Salesmen

To develop leadership and to foster interest in the field of distributive education are the aims of the Distributors' Club. Students enrolled in the cooperative training classes are members of this organization.

Patsy Ruple served as president of the Distributors' group. Other officers included Albert Gomez, vice-president; Clara Matlock, secretary; and Dan Hatfield, treasurer. The Distributors' Club, under the guidance of Mrs. Loucillah Kirkpatrick and Miss Alice M. Young, is a member of both the state and the national association.

The Distributors' quarterly publication, the D.E.C. News, was issued under the capable editor-in-chief, Carolyn Breeding. Co-editors were Sue Allen, Mary Ellyn Williams and June Allen.

At the first meeting of the D.E. Club the main object was to have every member know every other member. A candlelight breakfast was held in celebration of Hallowe'en. After the annual Christmas dance, a tree and presents were donated to underprivileged children. Talks presented by various men and women gave the D.E.C. members a broader outlook on the distributors' field.

Distributors' Club member Carolyn Breeding on her job in a downtown store presents a convincing sales talk to her customers.

THE STAGECRAFT CLUB

Workers Behind the Scenes

Have you ever wondered about the stage settings at a play or during the Daze? Have you asked yourself where Central gets such professional looking scenery? The answer lies in the trade secrets of the Stagecraft Club.

Under the guiding hand of Mr. Albert Martin, the thirty boys in this organization can do anything with a piece of lumber. They build all the special props for Central's assemblies, plays, opera, and Daze. Of course to have good looking scenery, the suitable type of lighting must be used. Therl Whittle is the one who takes care of the lighting effects and who gets all properties together. Bob Perrier is manager of scenery.

Every afternoon and during home room the stagecraft boys have their meetings. They may then be seen busily working on all the scenery, props and lighting. A system has been set up to give the boys credit on their work. To receive one credit, the workers must put in 120 hours of work. It is given only for work done before or after school.

The club also is in charge of the home room camp fires at the Senior class breakfast.

The club is the oldest organization at Central in continuous operation. It was organized in 1917.

The Stagecraft Club had a very successful year with the help of their officers: president, Wally Womack; secretary-treasurer, Nan Thornton. They all proved their motto: "Our service is our loyalty."

Therl Whittle and Wally Womack are never too busy changing scenery or pulling curtains to flash a welcome smile.

TRADE AND INDUSTRIAL CLUB

With an Eye on the Future

The Trade and Industrial Club was first organized to help the boys become better acquainted with different trades. The club now has many more objectives. Two of the important purposes are to encourage respect in each boy for his vocation and to awaken a desire to do better work.

Mr. Raymond G. Johnson, the sponsor, gives the boys their choice of trades. After a close questioning, he tries to find a job suitable for each boy. From thirty-eight boys, twenty-eight trades were represented.

The boys worked four hours a day and attended school four hours a day. Once every two weeks they met to plan various activities. Some of the outside activities were a moonlight party in October at Mr. Johnson's farm and the annual Christmas party in December. Also in December was the formal initiation for new members.

Officers this year were E. J. Stephens, president; Calvin Deason, vice-president; Connie Ward, secretary; Gene Holtz, treasurer; and Johnny Rutledge, sergeant-at-arms.

The Trade and Industrial Club is an important asset to the industrial world because it promotes good work from the employee and better understanding from the employer.

Studying is a part of the every day routine.

FLICKERS' CLUB

First Row: Ernie Rhyan, Robert Middleton.

Lights! Camera! Action!

Lights! Camera! Action! With words similar to these, the members of one of Central's newest and busiest organizations start their day. The moving pictures and other screen projections are some of the duties of the Flickers' Club, under the supervision of Mr. Albert Martin.

The Flickers meet every Wednesday morning during home room. To become a member of this active club, one must either run movies for teachers or be in a regular projection class.

The club officers are Dean Rutherford, president; and Ernest Rhyan, secretary and treasurer.

MEDICO CLUB

Introduction to Medicine

The Medico Club this year has been particularly interested in lectures and trips which would be of especial interest to the members and to their future professions. Many doctors have come to speak to the club about medicine. Trips to hospitals, including St. Johns, Hillcrest and Mercy, and to dairies, bakeries and health laboratories were taken.

Presiding over the meetings was Frank Stuart, club president. Other members of the cabinet were Betty Jones, vice-president, Bob Hansen, treasurer; Don Mattocks, attendance secretary; Max Deardorff, social secretary; and Jeanne Aston, recording secretary. Miss Lucile Witte and Mrs. Susie Sunderland were the co-sponsors.

Fun was had by all the members on the club's annual picnic, which was held at Mohawk this year, and at the Christmas party. Admission to the party was a toy which was sent to the Negro Children's Day Nursery.

The Medico Club sponsors several very worthy projects. Every year they help make the sale of Christmas seals and the March of Dimes a success. The club also sponsors Central's aid to the cancer fund.

Medico Club members, Bill Hoffmeister, Don Mattocks and Sharon Cornett, make a sale to Jerry Bayless during the promotion of the Christmas Seal project.

THE ADVERTISING BOARD

Eighth Row: Bill Mason, James Hogle, Bill Winchester, Dale Matlock, Boyd Dunlap.

Publicity Agents

Every Tuesday morning 31 members of Advertising Board met in Room 327 to talk over business of the coming weeks. They were called to order by their officers: Bill Kendall, president; Bill Winchester, vice-president; Sherry Brown, secretary and Marybeth Taylor, treasurer. Miss Annie Laurie Von Tungeln was the sponsor.

To start off the year they had the job of checking to see that every student had an activity budget. Later in the year they worked on the P.-T.A. membership drive. One year-round job of the board was to see that the electric sign board in the main hall was kept up to date on the coming events. Guest speakers added to the meetings by giving helpful ideas in the field of advertising.

Later in the year the board promoted the sales for the speech arts plays and the opera.

Along with work this active organization had picnics and house parties throughout the year.

Members of the Advertising Board check out tickets for the opera.

ALPHA KEYSTONERS

Both Work and Play

The Alpha Keystoners this year have combined pleasure with many worth-while projects and have found the results very satisfactory. They have worked jointly with the other Keystoner clubs as well as with their own private activities.

The meetings were held every Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. at seven-thirty. These meetings had programs that were interesting, profitable and varied. Some of the programs were purely entertainment, while others were instructional. An example of the latter type was Carolyn Baer's program on colleges.

The officers presiding at the meetings were Sally Lenderking, president; Carolyn Baer, vice president; Wilma Redman, secretary; and Barbara McGill, treasurer.

The first party of the year for the Alphas was a Hallowe'en party held at the home of Jeanne Jackson. Then came Christmas, and with it the annual Christmas caroling party with Joy Jenkins as chairman. This was a joint activity with the other Y.M.C.A. clubs. In January, the Alphas sponsored a Semester Sock Hop. All members turned out to decorate the canteen and to make the party a huge success.

Alpha Keystoner members, Jeanne Jackson, Sally Lenderking, Barbara Graham, Wilma Redman and Joy Jenkins, plan future activities.

BETA KEYSTONERS

FIFTH ROW: Ladine Mathy, Margaret Hunt, Mary Thompson, Patsy Williams, Carolyn Lukenbill.

SIXTH ROW: Eula Goodpasture, Neoma Ellington, Peggy Petty, Jan Featherston, Ann Huddleston.

Fun for Everyone

The newly reorganized Beta Keystoner group was busy with all sorts of plans for social activities. Their enthusiasm did not waiver during these many months of work and fun.

Nadine Goodrich, president of the group was assisted by her cabinet: Jessie Dyer, vice president; Darlene Bonham, secretary; Peggy Petty, treasurer; and Betty English, sponsor.

In November, the Y.M.C.A. was resounding with big promises and loud boasting, for the election of city officials from members of the Keystoner group was about to take place. The behind the scene factors of politics were disclosed to these aspiring young citizens. After the election Mayor Bob Marston was just another high school boy again. The Keystoner members too were high school youths, but they had a greater understanding of the problems involved in the management of government.

Another big month for the group that held their meetings at the Y.M.C.A. on Monday evenings was February, the months of sweethearts. The Sweetheart Formal took up the time of all who were involved. This formal was planned for many weeks in advance, and even after it was over, a party atmosphere prevailed for many weeks. The members of Beta hope to be a contributing factor to the community by being much better citizens now than before joining this group.

Ginger Forrest, Dorothy Davis, Shirley James and Nadine Goodrich are busy planning an activity of Beta Keystoners.

Full of Good Times

A lively group of high school girls in a Keystoner Club can readily illustrate the purpose of the Hi-Y program—"to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school and community high standards of Christian character." The Delta Keystoners of Central, under the direction of Miss Eleanor Marks, is one such lively group.

The girls in Delta Keystoners began their fall activities with a round of unforgettable slumber parties. In October, assisting with the Sophomore Mixer in the school gymnasium required many hours of effort. Throughout the year the Delta members participated in joint activities with the other Hi-Y and Keystoner clubs at least once a month. The annual May banquet was a memorable occasion for all concerned.

The cabinet guided the organization as meetings progressed every Monday evening at 7:30. Sue Lawley served as president of the Delta Keystoners, as well as of Interclub Council. The vice-presidency was in the control of Barbara Busenbark. Joan Anderson was in charge of roll call and keeping the minutes. Jean Grove managed the financial accounts. Officers and members alike enjoyed wonderful times in the 1949-1950 Delta group.

Autographs

The drudging world looks up and smiles at him
Whose plane has matched the morning in its flight.

DOROTHY COLLINS ALYEA: The Aviator

Autographs

Yet the proudest spot where a bird alights
Is only a pause between two flights.

LORRAINE WING: The Gray Bird

Autographs

But hearts have caught fresh wonder from his eyes
Who pushed earth's last proud frontiers to the skies.

MARY J. J. WRINN: Miracle

Autographs

Fleeting wings on history's pages,
Wings of youth—that carry on.

MARY H. BLODGETT: Wings of Youth

Autographs

See youth spring upward to the stars
On vast and valiant wings.

JEAN M. BATCHELOR: Ad Astra

Autographs

A secret every man of them could share,—
All things are his whose dreams have wings to dare!
